The programmes in Design at School of Design and Creative Arts at Vedatya Institute are clearly differentiated from what is usually on offer in the academic world. It is unique as it recognizes the need to first build 'design acumen' in a learner through a process of exploration and discovery.

The contemporary programmes offered by SDCA include the first two years as Interdisciplinary Design Studies (IDS) programme to provide maximum exposure to students in various disciplines and help them specialize in a Major of their choice in the subsequent years. This broad exposure helps students to align their professional goals with their personal choices. Students can exit at the end of 1 year with a Certificate in Interdisciplinary Design Studies (general) and at the end of 2 years with a Diploma in Interdisciplinary Design Studies (advanced). Students exiting with a Diploma can get entry level work opportunities in the industry, with the support of a portfolio of up to 13 projects and 2 internships.

The goal of this phase of study is to make the students realize how little do they understand about design and how much there is to learn. This phase will also have some of the fundamental business study courses being offered in parallel to design focused modules.

In the final two years, students are encouraged to deep dive into their specialized Majors and choose from a combination of Minors to build a career path that aligns with their goals. Continuous mentorship by industry experts supports this academic pathway, along with internships and project-based learning. Students will exit with a Degree in Bachelor of Design in a Major of their choice. At this stage, students would have completed up to 24 projects and 4 internships as well as national and international study tours. This will enable the graduate to get placed at key positions in the creative industries, enabling faster growth in their careers.

Key Elements and Differentiators of the Program:

- » Sustainable design focus
- » "Making" 3D tab and prototyping outsourced center
- » Experimenting design ideas with on campus spaces
- » Industry-on-campus for active interaction with students
- » National & international study tours, design competitions and live projects
- » Industry internships and speakers

The program aims to transform individuals with a passion to work in the design space into professionals with a specialized industry focus ready to work in the rapidly evolving design industry in India. Through studying and experimenting with design ideas and varied approaches, spending time in a design organization on a professional work placement - the student would gain academic understanding and practical knowledge of the issue involved in the successful designing for chosen areas of specialization.

ALUMNI SPEAK

I am an Alumni of the 2011 SHTM batch and already striving to become one of the youngest General Manager at IHG. A lot of it has to do with Vedatya and the various faculty members who guided me in the most crucial years. The curriculum at the institute which is research based is clearly the USP for me. I find the curriculum very helpful that encourages logical thinking & creates a strategic bent of mind which is quintessential for a student aspiring to be a leader in the professional world. Add to it, practical experience in the 1st year, Internship in the 2nd year, management modules and the thoughtful industry interface in the last 2 years, and you have a winner.

It dates back to 2007 when the glorious journey with Vedatya began - and after four successful years of completion I worked as an Events Coordinator at Pullman Gurgaon Central Park. Vedatya taught me not only hotel management but how to walk the wonderful journey called Life. The institute has bestowed the seeds in me which make me what I am today. The four years at Vedatya have been remarkable not only in terms of academics but my overall development as an individual. The professors are the backbone of the institute who go out of the way to make sure your goal is attained as if it was their own. I'm now an entrepreneur, managing my own events management company, Designer Events Inc. When words such as "Kaveri Well Done" echo into my years now - My heart smiles and owes all of it to Vedatya
